

Abstract

With a feeding roller 42 being in contact with the peripheral face of a rolled staple 3 composed of a larger number of staples linearly coupled to form a roll shape, the feeding roller 24 is rotated by a driving motor and the rolled staple 3 is rotated in a roll-winding direction so that the tip of the rolled staple 3 is guided/supplied to a staple supplying path 100.